PARIS, Jan. 19.—American and British assault forces in northern Holland struck out in new attacks co-ordinated with the Russian offensive against eastern Germany today, but United States and French troops in the area around Strasbourg suffered a new setback.

Headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower admitted that the situation there had taken a turn for the worse.

German forces have now established a corridor from a point northeast of Haguenau to Gamsheim, 11 miles north of Strasbourg.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—American assault forces, striking east from Luxembourg, and British offensive units, attacking from eastern Holland, punched forward on Reich soil today in drives which may mark the start of a large-scale pressure campaign aimed at preventing the Nazis from shifting defense forces to the blazing eastern front.

Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army, sending elements of two divisions across the Sauer river in the Luxembourg-Reich border area, advanced up to distances of two miles and ousted the Nazis from several villages.

Wouldn't it be interesting to figure out how much snow has been shoveled off sidewalks in New Castle by householders during the six weeks of protracted winter. Here's a job for some ambitious mathematician.

With all of the attention centered on the traffic troubles occasioned by the heavy snows of the winter, most folks lose sight of the fact that some rare and beautiful winter scenes are presented in the city and county at the present time. It were until the top coating of snow got dirty.

The state highway safety bureau reported today that 1,107 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents during 11 months of 1944 on Pennsylvania roads. The fatalities were 2.98 per cent less than the previous year and 45 per cent under the peak year of 1941, according to John R. Bowman, statistician. The drop was attributed to the sharp decline in motor vehicle travel caused by war time rationing of fuel and tires.

Japanese Resistance Is Expected To Become Increasingly Desperate

By CLARK LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH GENERAL MACARTHUR, Luzon, Jan. 19.—The American public, if it is as astounded as the Japs leaving the gateway to Manila open to our landing and present advances, must be asking whether the enemy's demonstrated weakness means the end of the war is in sight.

The situation in the Pacific today can be compared with some aspects of Europe early in September of 1944, when the Germans were driven out of the captured countries and reeled back to their own borders, apparently near collapse.

Developments showed the Germans were far stronger both in material and morale than was anticipated. Like the Germans, the Japs have lost a great deal of their early gains, but the war out here isn't as far along in many ways as the European struggle.

So far, we haven't hurt Japan's war industry anything nearly as bad as Germany has been battered by air. We still are hundreds of miles away from the Jap's home soil, where the imperial fanatics can fight at least as determinedly as the Germans for their sacred home soil.

JAPS ARE FACING "BATAAN" OUTLOOK

GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Luzon, Jan. 19.—Strong Japanese forces in the Rosario sector which potentially threatened the rear of Manila-bound Yank columns moving down the central Luzon plains were witting today under hammering of big guns of American warships and artillery supporting advancing infantrymen.

In the wake of the thunderous bombardment by naval units and artillery batteries the doughboys ripped through stubborn enemy resistance to seize positions in the outskirts of Rosario and crush the Nip troops farther toward the hill country.

International News Service War Correspondent Howard Handelman in a front dispatch from Zamboanga said Filipinos have reported they were told by Japs they would stage their "Little Bataan" in mountainous, narrow La Union Province, fringing the coast north of Rosario and the Lingayen beachhead.

Three Burned To Death In Home

Father And Two Sons Perish, Two Daughters, One Other Son Escape

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19.—(INS)—A war worker and two of his sons were burned to death today when a fire trapped them in their North Braddock home.

The dead, James Milden, 37; Jack, 12, and William, four, were found in their second floor bedroom.

A daughter, Nora, 17, with her baby sister Janet, ten months old, in her arms, leaped to safety from a 15-foot high front porch roof.

Another son, Walter, 15, leaped to safety from the same roof.

Nora was treated for a back injury at a hospital, but the baby was apparently not injured.

Milden's wife, Verna, 35, was at a neighbors home when the flames broke out, apparently in the living room of the two-story frame building. An explosion from a gas stove in the kitchen may have helped spread the flames, fire officials said.

Nora said she was awakened by the smell of smoke and that she attempted to arouse her father before rushing out with the baby.

Calls On Germans To Overthrow Hitler

LONDON, Jan. 19.—(INS)—The German people were called upon today by a spokesman of the German national committee in Moscow to overthrow Adolf Hitler before it is too late.

The spokesman of the Soviet-sponsored national committee was quoted by the Moscow radio as saying:

"Never yet has the German army been in such a catastrophic situation. Prepare a general strike, revolt against Hitler. Act now."

Army Surgeon General Asks Nurse Drafting

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Appealing for immediate passage of a law authorizing the drafting of nurses, Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, army surgeon general, told Congress today that the flow of wounded soldiers from the war fronts to the states increased 270 per cent in the past year.

Gen. Kirk testified before the House Military committee at a special hearing which interrupted the closed door consideration of the broader may "work or fight" bill to draft men from 18 to 45 into war plants.

The surgeon general told the House committee that 18,000 nurses are required at once to meet minimum needs and that "they can be secured only through extending Selective Service to include nurses."

Huge Increase

Kirk declared that the hospital patient load is increasing at double the rate of discharges. Since last May, he added, total personnel in the Army Nurse Corps has increased only 2,000, while the number of patients in army hospitals has risen from 260,000 to 450,000.

The War Department's Nurses Draft bill would register for induction all registered women nurses in the United States but would extend to them the privilege of volunteering for duty in the nurse corps where they would receive commissions as second lieutenants.

Gen. Kirk testified that 30,000 to 32,000 army patients are now being sent home each month from overseas, as compared with 8,500 a month.

PEARL HARBOR, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Movements of Adm. William F. Halsey's Third Fleet, on the prowl awaiting a possible offensive maneuver by the Imperial Japanese navy, still were veiled under a cloak of secrecy today but Pacific Fleet headquarters revealed a fresh series of air blows against Nippon's island bases in the Pacific.

Seventh Army Air Force bombers pounded the airstrip at Iwo Jima, 750 miles south of Tokyo, while other planes struck enemy installations and harbor facilities at Babeldaob, main island of the once formidable Jap base in the Palaus, and hit Yap in the Western Carolines.

Soviet Troops May Be First To Enter Berlin For Allies

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially For International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—The Red legions of Marshal Stalin are smashing ahead in the east on a front of approximately 250 miles. The Soviet armies are apparently once more in full swing in another great smashing winter offensive.

To get a correct strategic picture of the war in Europe, it is now necessary to visualize all the Allied encircling lines, in the east on the south, and in the west. Truly, Hitler's inner fortress will shortly be under assault from all sides.

Marshal Stalin's present offensive action is of greatest importance to the Allied assault in the west. With the maximum of pressure being exerted from both the east and the west, it will make the shifting of Nazi troops from one front to the other within Germany impossible. And it will definitely take not only all of the Nazi armed forces to defend their inner fortress, but also all of their so-called "home armies."

Probably Shifted Forces

It is entirely probable that Field Marshal Von Rundstedt shifted great strength from the eastern front to the west in order to accomplish his major offensive which resulted in the Belgium bulge. But if the German supreme command repeats maneuvers of that kind now, the enemy will create weak spots in one of his own fronts or the other. (Continued on Page Two)

Three Powerful Mechanized Soviet Armies Driving Ahead On Reich

REPORT REDS ARE CLOSING IN ON LODZ (BULLETIN)

MOSCOW, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Red army troops have captured the Polish hub city of Krakow, Premier Marshal Joseph V. Stalin announced tonight.

By NATALIA RENE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, Jan. 19.—

Premier Marshal Joseph V. Stalin in another special order of the day announced today that a fresh, massive Red army offensive has been launched in the Sanok area of lower Poland, throwing the Germans back 50 miles on the level approaches to the southern reaches of Nazi Silesia.

Driving along a 37-mile strip north of the Carpathians, the Soviets ripped huge gaps in the enemy lines and sent lightning-like spearheads racing forward in a move which threatened to probe into Silesia from the south while severing the lifelines into Vienna from the north.

Cross Swollen Rivers

The Russians slammed across two swollen rivers, key points in the Nazi defense system, as they mounted their new direct thrust to Krakow and, plunging along the main rail line toward that city over-ran more than 400 communities. Included were Gorlice and Jaslo, 38 miles northwest of Sanok.

Savage house-to-house fighting already was reported in Krakow, west of the advancing legions of this newest drive, while to the north other Russian forces closed in on Lodz, Poland's second city.

(The Nazi DNB asserted that the Soviets already have entered Lodz.)

Seventh Full-Scale Drive

Stalin's order, addressed to Gen. Ivan Petrov and his chief of staff Lieut. Gen. George Karzhenevich said the Soviets opened their seventh full-scale offensive four days ago and broke through strongly fortified enemy positions.

"In the course of their offensive," the order continued, "the troops of the (Fourth Ukrainian) front forced the River Vistula and Dunajec and captured the towns of Gorlice and Jaslo, important strong-points in the enemy defenses in the Krakow direction as well as over 400 other inhabited localities."

The victory will be saluted tonight with 20 salutes from 224 guns, Stalin promised.

(The Germans also reported appreciable progress by Russia's northern armies. DNB said that west of Pulkavka, 14 miles inside Prussia, a strong Soviet tank force had smashed a deep breach in the German line as far as Breitenstein, the route being followed by the Russians is in the direction of Koepnig, capital of East Prussia.)

Telephone Service Awaits By 1,100 In Lawrence Co.

War-time Shortage Of Facilities Leaves Many Families Without Phone Service

There are approximately 1,100 families in Lawrence county waiting for telephone service because of the war-time shortage of facilities. Charles E. Siegfried, local manager of the Bell Telephone company said today. The number is still increasing, he added, more than 100 applications for service having been added to the "waiting list" since December 1.

It recently was announced that more than 100,000 families are waiting for Bell service throughout the state.

Latest figures show that in the New Castle exchange area there are 815 families who cannot be given telephone service at this time. There are 240 others in the Ellwood City area and 24 in Wampum.

Mr. Siegfried said that approximately 800 of those waiting for service in Lawrence county could be given service if telephone instruments were available. The others are waiting because certain central offices and outside cable and wire lines in their vicinities are already operating at capacity.

In commenting on the state-wide situation recently, Philip C. Staples, president of the Bell of Pennsylvania, said: "Elimination of the waiting lists is the greatest problem facing the telephone company today. Meeting these demands for service is the first order of business just as soon as facilities are again available. We don't like to keep anyone waiting, but we know everyone will agree that the needs of our fighting men must be met before we can start to wipe out the waiting lists."

Telephone manufacturing plants are still engaged almost 100 per cent on war work. The Western Electric company, manufacturing branch of the Bell System, is now turning out, in dollar value, as much in each two-and-a-half week period for the government, as its entire production for military purposes during the first World War.

emphasized it to cut off Japan from her stolen empire and her sources of vital raw materials.

Before long, land-based planes from Clark field and other Luzon airbases will be keeping a constant patrol between the Philippines and the China coast, and very little, if any enemy shipping can dribble through the aerial blockade. This same aerial blockade can be reinforced by surface sweeps anytime Admiral Nimitz orders them to.

The outcome of the Philippines campaign is already certain. Ten days after the Luzon landing, we have so much power that we can't lose, regardless of the Jap strategy or how long it takes to wipe out the enemy on Luzon and other islands. The Japs may sneak some reinforcements from Formosa or even attempt evacuation when they realize the battle is hopeless. But no major movements should be possible with our air-sea domination.

With remarkably small land casualties, we penetrated the Japs' main defense lines in the center, and are now in a position to set up strong against the inner empire.

So far, we have attacked spots where the Japs had three years to build fortifications but didn't.

Outguessed Enemy

MacArthur invariably outguessed the over-extended enemy, forcing him to fight MacArthur's way. Now the Jap lines are shorter and more compact, and the supply problem is less difficult.

When and if we move northward through Formosa against the Japanese home islands, we will be attacking places where the Japs had a minimum of 50 years to dig in—and certainly have.

For the first time, we come against strong coastal positions, which the enemy at present is undoubtedly certainly extending, and against artillery, the absence of which hitherto was largely accountable for our low casualties.

The Japs certainly aren't happy about their positions. They must fight henceforth with their stockpiles of oil and other materials already stored away underground and various estimated sufficient to last from two to four years.

"The noose around the neck" which the Japs complained was strangling them in 1941 has become a reality. The war of easy conquest is now a fight for national existence. In this pinch, the Japs can be expected to fall back more and more on the "Banzai" spirit, which at times is a potent weapon if added to high explosives.

Our military leaders foresee increasingly desperate Jap efforts. They hope the people back home will not think the war is over yet.

DAYLIGHT RAIDS BY BIG BOMBERS MADE ON JAPAN

"The enemy raiders caused some damage to our side on the ground," Domet said that the raid began about noon (11 p. m. Thursday EWT) and continued for about an hour.

A Tokyo domestic broadcast said later that at least three sorties by Superfortresses were made over Japan in the 12-hour period preceding the major assault.

About 12:30 a. m. it was said, a single B-29 dropped bombs and incendiaries on the western sector of the Osaka plain. Four hours after a small number of B-29's roared over the coastal area east of Osaka, Tokyo continued. These craft were said to have dropped bombs on the sea, aiming the missiles at light fishing vessels.

A reconnaissance mission was then carried out at 9:30 by a lone Superfortress over Nagoya and Osaka, Tokyo added.

Scattered Raids

The big B-29's flew in several echelons, Domet said, and "conducted scattered raids on the Chubu and Kinki districts." The areas referred to cover a wide belt of territory running from coast to coast across central Honshu.

"The amount of bombs dropped by the enemy raiders was unusually small and damage sustained by our side was negligible," Domet asserted.

"Intercepting the enemy Superfortresses, our air defense forces chalked up good results," Domet boasted. The Japs failed to give any details, however, claiming that "the exact number of enemy planes brought down or damaged is presently being checked."

The initial American announcement of the daylight raid did not designate specific targets.

The mission marked the fifth raid in force against Honshu this month. The last attack took place Sunday when a sizeable force of the huge American bombers hit Nagoya with unobserved results.

Proceeding the American communiqué the Japanese radio said single Superforts had flown over the Osaka-Kobe area and over Korea during daylight.

"Intercepting the enemy Superfortresses, our air defense forces chalked up good results," Domet boasted. The Japs failed to give any details, however, claiming that "the exact number of enemy planes brought down or damaged is presently being checked."

The mission marked the fifth raid in force against Honshu this month. The last attack took place Sunday when a sizeable force of the huge American bombers hit Nagoya with unobserved results.

Proceeding the American communiqué the Japanese radio said single Superforts had flown over the Osaka-Kobe area and over Korea during daylight.

"Intercepting the enemy Superfortresses, our air defense forces chalked up good results," Domet boasted. The Japs failed to give any details, however, claiming that "the exact number of enemy planes brought down or damaged is presently being checked."

SOVIET TROOPS MAY BE FIRST TO ENTER BERLIN FOR ALLIES

through which the Allies will send their armies plunging into the heart of the Reich.

The liberation of Warsaw means that the Vistula river has been crossed in central Poland by Stalin's armies. Warsaw is actually built on both sides of the Vistula. There appears to be no doubt that Red troops have crossed the Vistula farther to the south in Poland.

Natural Defense Line

The Vistula river is the last great natural defense line left to the Germans before the borders of their own country are reached. Crossing the Vistula at Warsaw will almost, of a certainty, mean the collapse of any further Nazi defense of that river to the north and immediately to the south.

At this time, viewing the entire European fighting front, it would not seem that it will be necessary for the Allied armies in the south to overrun all of Italy. Gen. Clark's 5th Army and the British 8th must, of course, continue strong pressure in order to pin down and hold in Italy all the Nazi divisions that are now fighting there. The Allied armies of the west are practically against the borders of the Reich, in some places they are actually within Germany. It is more than probable that Stalin's Red armies in Poland will shortly be lined up along the entire length of Germany's eastern Polish border. And that eastern border is uncomfortably close to Berlin.

The great Red winter offensive is proof positive of co-ordinated assault action between the United Nations which are fighting against Hitler in Europe. It is entirely possible that Soviet troops will be the first to enter Berlin.

INSPECT TRAILER CAMP

City councilmen today inspected Jackson avenue district, where a federal agency has established a trailer camp. Workmen engaged in local essential plants will be housed in the several dozen trailers. None are housed there yet.

One of the councilmen referred to the camp as "Dumarton Oaks" and asserted water lines and sewer lines are being built. The city will install fire hydrants.

Serious plant diseases may be carried in or on the seed. Because of this, seed should be saved only from the healthiest pods, fruits, or tubers taken from the healthiest plants in the garden.

ARMY SURGEON GENERAL ASKS NURSE DRAFTING

month during the first half of 1944—An increase of 270 percent, he pointed out.

He recounted that the army started a voluntary recruitment program to obtain 10,000 additional nurses last April when the Army Nurse corps strength stood at 40,000. But despite the fact that some 27,000 new nurses were graduated and added to the available civilian pool, the army was able to obtain only 2,000 volunteers.

"If the additional number of approximately 18,000 nurses for the army are to be obtained, it seems clear that Selective Service legislation is required."

Manpower Relief

Two items of European news indicate that the manpower problem which is troubling the Allied countries, and especially the United States, will be alleviated as time passes. The Allies are beginning to avail themselves of the services of people formerly within Nazi clutches.

The war minister of France, Andre Diehelm, announces that by late spring France will have an army of 1,200,000 men equipped with American material and ready to take its place in the battle lines along the Western Front. Regardless of whether this army is of first-class caliber, it can at least relieve the Allies of the necessity of providing some of the manpower they otherwise would need in driving into Germany. Creation of this large French army should be reflected in the rate of conscription in the United States several months from now.

On the other side of Europe, Romania announces that work battalions of men and women of German origin, ranging from 18 to 45 years of age, are being formed. These battalions are being employed in the destroyed areas on the Eastern Front. The plan is Russia's. Moscow has a program laid out to take millions of Germans, as Germany took millions of Frenchmen and other Europeans, transport them to Russia and put them to work to repair the damage caused by the Nazi armies.

Whether Britain and the United States plan to get work out of the Germans has not been announced. But Russia is beginning to apply that policy early and expects to continue it for years.

Maybe The Fox Knows

Predictions by Western Pennsylvania weather prophets of an unusually early spring come right in the nick of time as the sound of the snow shovel is heard in the land.

At the best they constitute a neat scoop on the government's prognosticators, or guessers. At the worst, even if not fulfilled, they have a general cheering-up effect through the familiar power of suggestion.

If we are rather in the dark regarding how the official observers arrive at their not always accurate conclusions, these amateurs invariably cite the basis for their confident predictions. They lay all their cards on the table. Thus a Westmoreland county fox has been sounding his mating call in mid-January instead of a month later. It is described by a nature lover as resembling the noise of a coffee grinder suffering from asthma.

Many other encouraging signs derived from the farmers' weather-wise lore have been noted. At least they are more specific and therefore more acceptable than the poet Shelley's casual remark about the arrival of winter meaning that spring is just around the corner.

Keeping Prepared

Thomas A. Edison, in offering his opinion 25 years ago on how a nation could be kept prepared for war without expanding vast sums of money, said that it would be possible to do so if a nation designed the machinery to make modern implements of war and kept it abreast of new developments. It would not be necessary to manufacture the war implements if machinery for the purpose were adequate and kept up to date, he said.

Recently, James M. Crawford, newly elected president of the Society of Automotive Engineers, recommended that there be close cooperation after the war between the automotive industry and the armed forces to keep military equipment always modern.

Those who are associated with the automotive industry, which incidentally has done a remarkable job in war production, realize that many months were needed to adapt the auto plants to manufacture of implements of battle. It is generally believed that if there is another war, it will break out with less advance notice than was the case this time. Lightning thrusts can be made with airplanes, rapid land campaigns can be conducted with heavy armor.

Not only must there be considerable war equipment ready for immediate use in this country, but industry must be so well informed on ordnance needs and up-to-date design that production of war implements could be started on an all-out basis much more quickly than in the early part of this war.

Eating In Manhattan

That the fish—specifically the mackerel—is man's best friend is being impressed by metropolitan officialdom on New Yorkers in line for pity for not knowing where their next bite of meat is coming from. Market Commissioner Harry M. Brundage posed with a mackerel in Fulton Fish Market and then discoursed on the current evanescence of meat. Noting that 2,000,000 pounds of meat had arrived that day, the commissioner expressed doubt that there would be a shutdown of butcher shops, as warned by the State Association of Retail Meat Dealers, unless more meat arrived in the city.

But with 2,000,000 pounds of meat likely to melt as fast as snow in New York, Commissioner Brundage's contribution to Mayor La Guardia's campaign to popularize fish—above all, mackerel—that, roasted to a nice, crisp gold, it still boasts an engaging identity, unlike so many of the unreasonable facsimiles of meat dishes offered by many restaurants. One may string along with the Little Flower on the suggestion that anyone who has never looked into the delectable compensation of fish entrees may have suffered but has not lived.

But Gotham's food prospects do not lean too largely to the piscatorial side. Sizeable shipments of buffalo meat have come into the town to solace steak-dreamers. Consumer demand is reported brisk, though a little less glibly than venison and somewhat sweet, but does not involve the pangs of parting with ration points, though priced higher than beef. But meat-hungry New Yorkers seem disposed to make a stab at it.

Little else matters at the moment—or in the months ahead—than the winning of this war.

In panning the columnists, President Roosevelt says that the one conducted by Eleanor is different. It sure is, it sure is.

The World and the Mud Puddles

DeGAULLE AND STALIN

Some of the things that happen in world politics seem quite peculiar to the ordinary reader of the daily news. There is the mutual aid—in plain words, military—pact just concluded between France and Russia. Why did France choose Russia as a partner for the coming 20 years instead of Great Britain? France was liberated from Nazi control by the United States and Great Britain at an immense cost in American and British lives. Russia did not lift a finger to help the liberation. But General DeGaulle journeys to Moscow and makes a 20-year pact with Stalin, without as much as consulting the two liberating powers.

It is explained that Russia wants a strong anti-German power on the west and that France wants a strong anti-German power on the east. This is well enough; but it would seem logical that a working alliance between Great Britain and France would insure far more protection on the west than France alone could give.

Probably a better explanation of this strange pact is that Stalin was prompt to recognize DeGaulle, while Great Britain and the United States hesitated for many months. Another is that the Communists undoubtedly will be a power in France and that DeGaulle's action is a move to gain their support in the post-war government.

One feature of this deal that cannot have escaped observation in Washington relates to the future peace organization planned at Dumbarton Oaks, which provided for a council of seven members. France is expected to be a member of that council. Under the existing pact, whom will she vote with—Great Britain and the United States, or Russia?

LIFE'S BEST

The pleasures are many worth while:
White hyacinths blooming in spring.

For women: the newest of style.

For men: the gray goose on the wing.

For women: the bonnet's the thing!

For men: a mouse head in the hall!

But whatever a full year may bring.

True love is the best of it all.

Sweet music can women beguile.

Most men welcome chances to sing.

Women come on a baby's first smile.

Men are happy with fish on a string.

To keepakes all women will cling.

Men delight in a game with a ball.

But for the subject, or queen or the king.

True love is the best of it all.

For women: of linen a pile.

A diamond that's set in a ring.

And comrades alongside to swing.

For women: the bell's ting-a-ling.

When friends are expected to call.

But whatever the fates have to fling.

True love is the best of it all.

Farther back than the dynasty Ming.

This was so, whether master or thrall!

In the length of life's penulium.

True love is the best of it all.

HIGHER ARMY-NAVY GRADES

Higher ranking for our top-flight admirals and generals is proposed in legislation before Congress, and expected to pass finally after some differences between Senate and House measures are smoothed out. The bill creates the grades of Admiral of the Fleet and of General of the Army. These grades are temporary, intended for occupancy only during the war. Many may assume that there is no real need for such upgrading and that the proposal relates only to the fuss-and-feathers side of war.

That, however, is not the opinion of those familiar with how these things work out. Eisenhower has the most responsible command on the United Nations side, but may come into contact with British and later with Russian commanders who bear higher relative rank.

Everything in war, especially in war waged by a military coalition depends on co-operation, and co-operation is often made difficult when it requires a certain subordination of function by a man of higher to one of lower grade. One of our Civil War problems was to get commanders all equal in rank—that of Major General being long the highest—to work together under circumstances that required one to take the lead. A great problem was solved when Grant was made lieutenant general. It is desirable to pare our top commanders in Army and Navy any embarrassment that might come if they had to work with men of higher formal rank.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

"Well," replied Sandy, with sudden boldness, "I was thinking I'd like to kiss ye, Lassie."

Jean blushed happily as this operation took place, but Sandy once again fell silent, and the girl asked hopefully, "An' what are ye thinking about now?"

"Na, lassie, it's mair serious this time. I was just wonderin' when ye were goin' to pay me that penny for my thoughts."

The trouble is a nuisance doesn't know he's a nuisance.

GIVING COUNTRY CLUB DANCE
My niece has been visiting me. Before she leaves I should like to give a dance for her. Can you give me some suggestions for going about this affair which I plan to hold in a country club?

Answer: Go to the manager of the club in which you will hold the dance, reserve a ballroom, tell him the number of guests you wish to invite and what refreshments you wish to have served. Hire an orchestra, either through him or through whatever source you prefer.

If you wish any kind of decorations, tell the manager and he will see that your request is carried out. If your dance will be informal, you may call your guests on the telephone and invite them, write informal notes to them or send out your visiting cards, thus: In ink above your name, place the date on which the dance will take place and under or next to it, add the words: "Dancing at — o'clock." At the bottom of the card on the right-hand side, place the name of the club.

You and your niece should receive the guests as they arrive, your niece standing in line for a reasonable time, after which she may dance.

You will, no doubt, be forced to stand in line the greater part of the evening, since guests will come and go continually.

A bowl of punch should be kept in the ballroom or near it for thirsty dancers. If you serve supper you should hire another room for that purpose.

Question: At what age should a small boy be trained to remove his hat when indoors?

Answer: As soon as he is graduated from the baby-cap stage. In other words, he should be taught this form of courtesy as soon as he begins wearing any kind of hat that is easily removed. And he should be taught to remove his hat upon entering his own house, as well as entering others.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT "TICS"

You have often heard the word "tic," or "habit spasm." Generally they are used synonymously. Says Pierre Janet in The Major Symptoms of Hysteria: "These tics are essentially constituted of little movements of the face, head or limbs, which appear at random, without any relation either to the present circumstances or the consciousness of the patient."

In The Nervous Child, Hector Charles Cameron writes: "By a habit spasm is meant the constant repetition of an action which was originally designed to produce some definite result, but which has become involuntary, habitual, and separated from its original meaning."

Children's Nerves
James J. Walsh and John A. Foote in their Safeguarding Children's Nerves, say, "In the habit spasms the children make a series of involuntary muscular movements which they seem to be quite unable to control. The movements are often like those which are made for some special purpose, but under the influence of the tic they are made quite purposelessly."

With these phenomena, practically every reader of this column is familiar. If your child is so afflicted you are tremendously concerned and can scarcely keep your eyes off him or from telling him, "Don't do that," all of which only make him worse.

Build Poise
If you really want to help him you will have to work on yourself—not to seem to notice his affliction at all and then, with your physician, to build him up physically and cultivate in him more physical and emotional poise—less fatigue, less nervous strain and tension, more outlets for satisfying, but non-exciting, achievements. Work on yourself. Also consult your doctor. My special bulletins, "The Nervous Child" and "The Nervous Mother," may be had in a self-addressed envelope stamped with six cents, sent to me at 235 East 45th street, New York City.

Dr. Willard C. Olsen of the University of Minnesota, published an excellent study on Measurements of Nervous Habits.

Habits Checked
Accordingly 636 school children were checked with the following chart of nervous habits:

1. Oral sucking thumb, sucking fingers, biting nails, protruding tongue.
2. Nasal picking nose, scratching nose, wrinkling nose.
3. Hipsutal (pulling and twisting hair, scratching head).
4. Irritation (scratching body).
5. Manual (picking fingernails, writhing hands, clenching fists).
6. Ocular (rubbing eyes, blinking eyelids, winking).
7. Aurial (pulling ear, picking ear).
8. Genital (manipulating genitals, thigh rubbing).
9. Facial (grimacing, twitching muscles).

He concluded that the causes are many and varied. "In general it may be said that family predisposition, association with persons of nervous habits, fatigue, habit formation and nutritional status are factors in the development of the habits studied."

VICTORY THROUGH SUICIDE
Japan's commander in the Philippines, General Yamashita, has devised a scheme whereby he figures his country has a good chance to offset America's "huge material wealth" and win the war after all it is by suicide crash bombing.

According to his arithmetic, if one crash bomber brings down a B-29 the Jap suicide, at the cost of one life, destroys ten adversaries. If by the same method a carrier is sunk, the ratio in Japan's favor is one to 100, or one to 1,000, or even, says the crash enthusiast, one to 10,000. What he calls the "body crash spirit of our heroes" has already, he boasts, produced great results.

Any large number of suicide-bombarders could undoubtedly inflict great damage on an adversary. But the Japanese have had ample opportunity to test out this tactic, and their percentages of loss of planes, ships and carriers is immensely greater than ours.

Yamashita, a hard-headed soldier, can hardly believe his own arithmetic. Where it goes askew is in the assumption that all dive bombers are skilful and thereby obviate the peril. But his appeal to the people bears witness to the impression American superiority in weapons and in productive capacity has made on the enemy. Japan's suicide-crash calculations are of a piece with the Nazi dream that Vengeance robots and rockets can yet snatch victory from the Allies.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

THE WRONG KIND OF LETTERS

Letters from home are a prime need of men on active service abroad. A cheerful and encouraging letter from home can do more for a soldier's morale than any battle honors or professional entreatment.

But there are other kinds of letters. The American Red Cross finds it necessary to specify some varieties which do a lot more harm than good. Mentioned in so many words are "busbody" letters which may be well intentioned, but which worry the soldier with gossip concerning the wife or sweetheart he left behind him.

Another damaging letter is written by the wife or sweetheart herself. She writes of desiring to break an engagement or wanting a divorce. She may regard this as strictly her own business, but bad news gets around in the battle areas.

Experts in emotional matters advise men and women alike that discussing marital problems in letters to the battle area is giving aid and comfort to the enemy.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

Sailor Tells Us Why We Should Be Thankful Cites Reasons Americans Should Always Be Civilian Gripping Condemned By Service Man

By HELEN ESSARY (Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—"What have we got to be happy about?" I asked this doleful question a week ago.

Soon thereafter my telephone rang. "I'm a seaman first class," a young voice said. "I'm compelled to take issue with you on that idea of not having anything to be thankful for."

"I can think of much to be thankful for, I feel I ought to tell you what's in my mind. And in the minds of the boys in my outfit. If you'd ever hear them talking when they're on night guard duty, you'd be thankful you are a part of a country that can produce such fellows. What's am I most thankful for? ... That's easy. Because I'm an American."

Later the seaman came to see me. He said he thought he could explain what was on his mind if we had a little talk together.

"I feel happier at being an American than I ever did before I got into this war," he said, laying his cap and coat carefully down. "When I was living in Alabama working at my job but not working too hard, I didn't think much about what it means to be born in this country."

"I didn't earn the chance I had. I didn't realize what a wonderful place the U. S. A. is until I began traveling around. But I know now and I'm glad of the chance to keep it the way it is. All of us fellows feel that way."

The reasons for such pride and willingness? Well—

There's such real freedom here. Take for example what the newspaperman, Mrs. May Craig, said to Mr. Roosevelt the other day when he said columnists were ex-crescences, and she said he had one in his own family.

Is there any place in the world a reporter could call down a big fellow like the president of the United States and get away with it? The president had to take it and knew he had to. Isn't that kind of freedom worth fighting for?

Don't forget that freedom of religion we've got, too, the seaman said. You can go to any kind of church or stay home from all of them. You can be Catholic, Jew, Presbyterian, Baptist. Anything. Nobody burns your churches down. Nobody makes you have a king or obey a dictator.

"It's such a thrilling country we've got," said the seaman.

Congressmen Of State Give Approval To Martin's Program

Congressmen Of G.O.P. In Pennsylvania In Conference With Governor Martin

By JAMES H. SMITH
(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
HERSHEY, Pa., Jan. 19.—Gov. Edward Martin's four-point program designed to advance "the cause of the Nation" with the Republican party pointing the way to the endorsement today of Pennsylvania's G.O.P. congressmen. The chief executive and state Republican officials, headed by Chairman M. Harvey Taylor, conferred yesterday at Hershey with all but two of the 18-member G.O.P. congressional bloc. They pledged themselves to closer cooperation "in the best interests of Pennsylvania."

"The delegation is very grateful to the governor for offering his full cooperation and we welcome his recommendations," declared Cong. James Wolfenden, of the Seventh district.

"We are anxious to have the Federal government carry out its program with the same efficiency the governor has shown in this state," he added. "We hope for many more similar conferences in the future."

Responsibility to the public, Governor Martin said, "was all on the Republican members." The G.O.P. dominates the delegation 18 to 15.

Governor's Program
The governor's program presented to the Republicans called for the conferees to:

(1) Do everything possible to win the war. (2) Effect governmental economies. (3) Adhere to American ideals. (4) Uncover "blunders" by Federal officials.

Governor Martin called for leaders in the Federal government to define the Nation's commitments for peace.

He also demanded that the Federal government assume certain responsibilities on financing flood control as well as river and harbor projects.

The governor explained that flood control and rivers and harbors were Federal government responsibilities rather than "state undertakings" but asserted the commonwealth would finance its own programs rather than rely on the national government, "so far as possible."

Others attending the conference included Republican National Committeeman G. Mason Owlett of Wellsboro, and Committeewoman Mrs. Worthington Scranton of Scranton.

All G.O.P. congressmen except Richard Simpson of Huntingdon, and James G. Fulton of Pittsburgh attended the session.

The governor will deliver a 15-minute radio address this evening during a dinner for cabinet members and several of the congressmen marking the half-way mark in his administration. The address will be broadcast at 7:15 p. m.

It's Up To In-Laws According To Prof

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Families of servicemen can "make" or "break" their marriages with foreign brides, declares Dr. M. E. John of Pennsylvania State college.

It's up to the family to see that the strange little wife becomes acclimated to her surroundings and to give her a lift in making necessary adjustments, according to Dr. John. She shouldn't be placed in embarrassing situations such as being forced to attend social functions or visit relatives as soon as she meets the immediate family of her husband, he says.

More than "tolerance" will be needed, he warns, against family and community antagonism.

Some men have more in common with foreign women—socially, culturally, and economically—than girls from widely separated social strata here in America, explained Dr. John.

Members Of Court To Fly To Brazil To Have Hearing

MONTREAL, Jan. 19.—(INS)—A temporary adjournment, the court martial of Squadron Leader Harold "Whitey" Dahl on charges of embezzlement and improper disposal of public property promised to be the longest and most expensive in the history of the RCAF and the longest in distance covered by the court.

The trial was recessed Wednesday until January 22, to permit the members of the court to fly to Belem, Brazil, where the hearing will be resumed. Charges in the trial deal with disposal of property while Dahl was in command of the Canadian Transport Command at Belem.

The court, en route to complete the hearing, will stop over in Florida to hear U. S. witnesses. So far, eighty Royal Canadian Air Force witnesses have testified at the hearing, which opened formally last Monday.

Shenango Pottery Damaged By Fire

Blaze In Paper Storage Warehouse Causes Some Damage Early Thursday Evening

City firemen were called to the plant of the Shenango Pottery company shortly before seven o'clock Thursday evening when fire broke out in the warehouse where waste paper used in packing the dishes is stored. Fire Chief James E. Thompson reported today. Two alarms from box 63 called four fire companies into action.

The fire was confined entirely to the immediate area in which the blaze started, good work by the firemen, coupled with an efficient sprinkler system getting the fire under control in short order. Only a small amount of inconvenience in plant operations was experienced as a result of the blaze.

One company alone has manufactured more than two million cotton gun slings for Army Ordnance. Slings are used by soldiers for carrying rifles on the march, in rifle marksmanship practice during basic training, and in battle, to steady the weapon for increased firing accuracy.

Sees United States As Greatest Power

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19.—(INS)—An industrialist from England today believed the United States would emerge from the war as the greatest power the world has ever known.

Speaking before the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, Wallace B. Phillips, president of the American Chamber of Commerce in London, said the leadership was ours by right, but it would require us to assume certain obligations to the rest of the world if our influence was to be felt.

Phillips declared that Britain and the United States would need each other's support in the post-war period and deplored their gradually increasing criticism of each other. Ninety-four out of every 100 British males, aged 14 to 64, are mobilized into the armed services or industry, Phillips said, and indicated that the same was true of almost half the women.

ALLIED FORCES PUNCH FORWARD ON REICH SOIL

eastern Netherlands and struck toward the German town of Hogen after pushing the Nazis from five towns.

(A Reuter front dispatch said that the British had captured Hogen.)

Intensification of Allied pressure along the entire Western Front, especially on northern sectors, was foreseen in order to prevent the Germans from transferring troops to the embattled eastern front.

It was disclosed that the German 11st infantry division was moved from the Holland front to Hungary several weeks ago and naturally Moscow does not want to see any larger movement at present.

The launching of aggressive thrusts in Holland by the British in the Sittard area and stepped-up operations in the Sauer river region by the Americans are believed part of the pressure plan which may develop on a fairly large scale at some points in the next few weeks.

Offensive Not Likely
A major all-out offensive in the west is not believed likely in the near future, however, unless the collapse of Germany suddenly appears imminent as a result of Soviet break-throughs.

Headquarters said that the Sauer river drive, by the U. S. Fourth and Fifth Infantry divisions in the Diekirch-Bettendorf area was progressing against moderate German resistance.

Principal progress was made in the area of Erpeldange, westward of Diekirch. The town was being cleared of enemy troops, at last report. Other forces pushed to the western edge of Diekirch and to high ground northeast. Eastward, the Yanks reached points north and northeast of Bettendorf.

East of Echternach, on the Luxembourg-Reich frontier south of the Sauer river battle areas, the Americans cleared the Germans from Rosport.

Activity Renewed
A renewal of activity north of Nijmegen in the eastern Netherlands, by both Allied and German forces was also reported by headquarters.

In the British push from the Sittard area, the Tommies attacked eastward across the main Roermond-Sittard road. Vigorous German opposition was encountered as the British progressed.

American armies in Belgium ground down the edge of the diminishing Belgian-Luxembourg bulge. In the Faymonville area, American First Army units hitting the north side of the salient struck to high ground south of Ondenval and defeated desperate German attempts to advance to the north. Southwest of Ondenval, the Americans scored advances against only moderate Nazi resistance, and moved two miles east of Reicht.

Below Vielsalm, the Americans engaged in clearing the woods northeast of the village of Sterpigny and armored forces reached points less than a mile northwest of Retigny.

Crush Counter-Attacks
American Third Army forces in the Bastogne area crushed more German counter-attacks in the vicinity of Oberwampach. Southeast of Wiltz, in northern Luxembourg, the Third mopped up enemy remnants in Nocher.

In northeastern France, the Germans in the Bitch salient renewed attempts to infiltrate into American Seventh Army forward positions near Reipertswiller. Staff fighting resulted.

The Americans at the same time scored slight gains in the Ritter-shoven area, in the Haguenau Forest area, where the Germans clung firmly to a strongpoint. Fighting also continued near nearby Hatten.

Near the junction of the old Maginot Line and the Rhine, the Americans occupied the villages of Auenheim and Leutenheim but they were forced to withdraw from Sesenheim and Herlisheim in hard fighting above Strasbourg.

Congressman To Demand Probe Of Charges Of Waste

Complaint Made That Hundreds Of Liberators Left Idle In Field, Others Scrapped

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
U. S. Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — Rep. Barrett (R.) Wyo., disclosed today that he planned to ask the House military affairs committee to investigate a complaint that hundreds of Liberator bombers were being left idle on a field, while others were reconditioned and then broken into scrap.

The charge was made by a worker at the Ogden (Utah) air transport service command, Hill field, whose name Barrett would not reveal.

Huge Waste
"I have worked at O. A. T. S. C. Hill field, Utah . . . and have witnessed thousands of manhours wasted and millions of dollars," Barrett's informant wrote.

"I have witnessed B-24 airplanes known as Liberators, bombers that could easily have been repaired, put under the saw and hauled out to the scrap heap," he continued.

"We have absolutely hundreds of B-24s sitting at Hill field not being used. We reconditioned 26 B-24s at Hill field so as to fly them to Florida to put them under the saw for scrap, and what is being done with the scrap? It is hauled out and dumped over a bank, tons of it lying at Hill field."

Two inspectors were sent to Oakland, Calif., he related, to inspect some P-47s and estimate the time needed for repair.

"Condemn Everything Possible"
"When they arrived they were taken to the C. M.'s office and met the request that they condemn everything they could," Barrett's correspondent added.

He complained that he saw gasoline "dumped in the sand" at Hill field "in lots ranging as high as 200 gallons at one time, not dirty gasoline, but gasoline which was put in an airplane and because the fuel cells leaked, it was drained, placed in barrels and dumped."

A $300,000 Liberator, he added, was equipped with "fine flooring, inlaid linoleum, chairs that cost $111.16 each, loud speaker for the radio, and . . . an ice box" at the cost of $10,000 "to be used by Gen. G. H. Beverly to fly around over the country with."

"You may show this letter to whom you choose," he wrote the Wyoming congressman, "or tack it in the walls of Congress, but I think that it is time to see that things of this type are investigated and some real action taken when they are found to exist."

Flood Stage On Some Rivers In State Is Feared

HARRISBURG, Jan. 19. — (INS) — The State Defense Council was ready today to meet possible flood emergencies should a sudden thaw release ice-locked waterways and melt some of the heaviest snow in Pennsylvania's history.

Deputy Director A. Boyd Hamilton said arrangements had been made for warning signals to be flashed ahead of floods from communities in river watersheds.

Local councils would have time to evacuate residents likely to be effected and to prepare shelter and food for victims, he added.

"We have been set to meet every enemy action for months and can swing easily over to handling flood emergencies," he declared.

Rivers in the Ohio and Susquehanna watersheds were expected to overflow if a sudden thaw occurred because more snow was on the ground than which contributed to the 1936 flood.

Under the disaster plan, organized at the request of Gov. Edward Martin, the resources of the army, navy, state guard, Red Cross and civilian defense would be consolidated.

State Conventions Being Cancelled

HARRISBURG, Jan. 19. — (INS) — In compliance with War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes' order limiting conventions, three state associations have cancelled annual meetings in the capital city and approximately 20 others were expected to follow a similar course, the Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce reported today.

A spokesman said the Pennsylvania State School Directors' Association, the Association of Board Secretaries and the Pennsylvania State Association of Boroughs have called off meetings scheduled for next month.

The other groups were slated to meet during the next three months. The Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce reported its annual meeting "probably" would be held.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 18. — (INS) — The state parole board reported today that only 23 of the 1707 Pennsylvania parolees serving in the army had failed to properly adjust themselves.

G. I. Giardini, superintendent of paroles, said the number of men being accepted by the army was increasing because restrictions had been relaxed.

Of the 23 parole violators, Giardini said, "several" had been honorably discharged from the service and returned to prison. The navy will not accept paroled prisoners.

First G.I. Loan Arranged Here

Former Medical Corpsman Takes Out First Veteran Loan In Western Pennsylvania

Anthony D'Auria, formerly a private in a medical detachment, is the first veteran in western Pennsylvania, outside of Pittsburgh, to take out a loan under the provisions of the G. I. Bill of Rights. Norman E. Clark, executive vice president of the First Federal Savings and Loan association, said today.

D'Auria's loan, which was closed Wednesday, will provide for the purchase of a home. Eight other loans are being processed now, and will probably be completed within a month, according to Mr. Clark. When the machinery for making these loans is perfected, the procedure should not take more than 30 days, he added.

Within the next five years, the G. I. loans are expected to amount to 20 billions of dollars, those in charge believe. All loans are appraised by a representative of the Veterans' Administration to make sure that they are given where they will do the most good. The aim of the whole process is to make available to the veteran something which he might have already had if he had not been in service, explained Mr. Clark.

The loans are made for a period of 20 years at 4 per cent interest, with a government guarantee of fifty per cent, not to exceed $2,000. Lending institutions will advance the entire purchase price of the home, if necessary.

To qualify for a G. I. loan, the veteran must have an honorable discharge from any branch of the service, and must have prospects of being able to take care of his payments.

Pfc. John Dzemyan Recovers In England

(Special To The News)

THE 125TH GENERAL HOSPITAL, England—Wounded in the back and leg by shell fragments while participating in the attack on Linnich, Germany, Private First Class John P. Dzemyan, 21, of 27 Ralph street, New Castle, Pennsylvania, is now recovering at this United States Army general hospital in England.

"Pfc. Dzemyan is recovering rapidly from his wounds and will be returned to duty upon completion of the rehabilitation program at this medical post," said Captain Forrest L. Carpenter, his ward surgeon.

"We had just neutralized two German pillbox fortifications and were digging in preparatory to renewing our attack when the Germans launched a heavy artillery barrage," related Pfc. Dzemyan.

"One of the shells exploded near me," Pfc. Dzemyan is the son of Mrs.

and Mrs. John Dzemyan of the Ralph street address. Before entering the Army on January 27, 1944, he was employed by the Shenango Pottery company, New Castle.

Babson Gives Ideas On State Of Trade

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright—1945—Publisher's Financial Bureau Inc.

BABSON PARK, Mass., Jan. 19.—There has been a slump in many lines of business since January last. Retailers naturally expect a slump in sales after Christmas, but their sales usually pick up again before this. On the other hand, some basic industries are again speeding up. The steel industry has been increased to 500,000 tons per month; while the demand for plates, bars, etc., for heavy tanks is very great. Crude oil output is continuing to show an increase over the same period last year; it is producing the incredible amount of about 5,000,000 barrels per day! Paper products, which are in such great demand for packing ammunition for shipment, are being increased above previous requirements. Lumber products also are ahead of a year ago. Farmers received 10 per cent more money for their crops in 1944 than in 1943 and 5 per cent more for live stock and live stock products. Railroad gross earnings, however, which are the best barometer of general business, have ceased to increase; while electric production has begun to decline.

Various reasons are given for this slackening in general business. Some families have decided to buy more cheap war goods; others are mixed up by the various changes in ration points; while many are thinking only of their boys abroad and have no heart to buy much; while everyone is getting tired. Certainly a cloud of some kind has shut the sunshine off Main Street since the bad news came from France. However, it will be found that this cloud has a silver lining.

Farmers Are Looking Ahead
Recently several important addresses have been made to farm organizations. Farmers are being told by their friends that they must expect a severe slump in agricultural prices after the war. This fact is "sinking in" and many farmers are rather solemn. Railroad labor, which has been riding high and handsome, is likewise realizing that railroad traffic will fall off terribly after the war. Most of the railroad employees taken on during the past two years, will be then out of work.

Most postwar "new inventions" will be labor-saving in effect. They will result in fewer people being employed. Since the November election even the government has had the courage to tell women workers that they will be laid off first. Bankers and investors who have been counting on a big foreign post-war demand are realizing that this is possible only by their loaning money to European governments.

Congressmen Becoming Conservative
When congressmen were home for Christmas, they explained that most of our Allies are, more or less, optimistic. These congressmen asked their constituents if the U. S. should loan these Allies money to start nationally-owned industries? What has happened in Belgium, Greece and elsewhere is making many ask for what we are fighting. People are beginning to wonder whether the talk by Churchill and Roosevelt demanding "unconditional surrender" is either Christian or realistic. We are coming to realize that world peace will exist only as every nation surrenders unconditionally to God, rather than to the British Empire or to Mr. Stalin or even to its Americans.

Postwar National Income
Talk about a postwar national income of $160 billions continues. Such talk is crazy. With the inevitable postwar depression in agriculture, railroads, shipping, aviation and all kinds of war work, there will be much unemployment. This can temporarily be relieved by more government borrowing and inflation, but would mean high taxes. Some day taxpayers will rebel. The only permanent cure for unemployment is for most cities to throw out their present school boards and train children to work and think instead of to play and complain.

1945 business will not be up to 1944—probably off a little more than 10 per cent. The stock market may suffer a "communist scare" sometime during 1945, but many selected stocks should ultimately sell at higher figures than now prevailing. Commodity prices will strengthen until Germany collapses. There will be many labor strikes as the "take-home" pay declines; but hourly rates will hold up. Building prospects are especially bright. I am bullish on suburban real estate and small, subsistent farms—not big farms. We have much for which to be thankful, but from now on we should think soberly. If our losses in Europe will make us do so, they will be a blessing in disguise.

Brief Address By Roosevelt At Inaugural

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(INS)—President Roosevelt kept his business appointments a minimum to devote his time to preparation of his fourth term inaugural address—a 500 word document and probably the shortest in the nation's history.

In keeping with the brief ceremonies which the President has decreed for Saturday's inaugural because of the war, Mr. Roosevelt's address will take but five minutes for delivery.

The White House, meanwhile, announced that invitations to attend the ceremonies on the executive grounds had been issued to the governors of the 48 states, and that eleven of them accepted so far.

But, it was disclosed, the acceptances did not include one from New York's governor, Thomas E. Dewey, who was Mr. Roosevelt's Republican opponent in the recent national elections.

Pfc. Mercer arrived home on December 18 after 18 months service in the Pacific area with the Marines, during which he participated in two major engagements.

Says Statement On Wage Parley Is Largely Incorrect

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Philip Murray's reported statement that negotiations between the steelworkers union and the basic steel industry on compliance with the War Labor Board's recent wage decision have floundered "beyond reasonable hope" of agreement, is incorrect in almost every particular, it was charged today by John A. Stephens of the U. S. Steel Corporation.

"On the contrary, we have reached complete agreement on some of the matters," said Stephens, vice president in charge of industrial relations of the Delaware division.

"There have been no negotiations between the union and the 36 companies in the steel case," Stephens added. "Negotiations are in progress between the union and the steel manufacturing subsidiaries of U. S. Steel. This is in compliance with Mr. Murray's suggestion that negotiations be deferred pending conclusions of those now in progress."

New Period Set For Whisky Rationing

HARRISBURG, Jan. 19.—(INS)—The 14th whisky rationing period will begin in Pennsylvania Monday and continue for three weeks with retailers' allotments remaining at 80 per cent of normal purchases, the state liquor control board announced today.

Civilians may obtain one-fifth of a gallon of whisky by presenting war ration book No. 3 during the next period ending February 10. Members of the armed forces will be entitled to the same amount providing they have the written approval of their commanders.

Liquor board officials said whisky supplies would be sufficient, but foresaw no immediate end to rationing.

"Shipments are coming in slowly despite the January distilling holiday," they stated. "We have adequate supplies, but it looks as if we will have rationing with us for some time."

Non-rationed stocks of domestic and imported rum, brandies, gins, liqueurs and wines were abundant.

The 575 state stores will be closed on Lincoln's birthday, February 12, the board announced.

Capt. R. H. Houk Given Bronze Star

Captain Robert H. Houk, of an Engineer Combat Battalion serving in France, has been awarded the Bronze Star for outstanding work in connection with military operations against the enemy from September 13 to September 25, according to information from battalion headquarters.

During this period the ceaseless efforts of Captain Houk alleviated a critical shortage of materials needed for the construction of defensive works in his sector, and his close supervision and wise use of the limited supplies available were largely responsible for the rapid completion of these projects.

Captain Houk is the husband of Mrs. Rose B. Houk, R. D. 1.

Supervisor Known Well To Young Folk

Recreation Center In City Hall To Be So Arranged As To Attract Them

Many young men and women who are now serving Uncle Sam in various places throughout the war torn world will feel pleased when they hear that Mrs. Minnie Dean, proprietress, previous to the war, of Deans, Harlansburg road, is the supervisor of the Recreation center which will be opened by the Mayor's committee about February 15. Before the war they enjoyed many visits there.

When Mrs. Dean operated that place it was a recreation center of high school students.

The mayor's recreation center will house the Swing Lobby and on other nights, other groups.

There will be a Snack counter, booths, soft lights at each booth, a music box and a large enough space for dancing. There will be a cloak room and other facilities, and generally speaking, will be made so attractive that it will attract the younger folk of the city, according to Mayor John F. Haven.

Sgt. Glenn Serves In 'Death Watch' Marine Squadron

(Special To The News)
A Marine Station in the Pacific—(Delayed)—Marine Mechanic William W. Glenn, 1008 Winslow, New Castle, Pa., was one of the men "sweating it out" with the crew on the Guadalcanal Marine field on the day that Marine Captain Kenneth Walsh made Marine Corps history with his lone attack on 50 Jap planes.

The "Death Watch" squadron in which Walsh was a N. A. 2 pilot, had taken off on a mission, and the action for which Walsh received the Congressional Medal of Honor came about when he became separated from the rest of the squadron through a mishap.

Master Technical Sergeant Glenn is now senior non-commissioned officer in charge of accessories and parts. Formerly a student at Carnegie Tech, Tech, Glenn enlisted at Pittsburgh in 1942.

Many Stiff Battles Are Still Ahead

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Regional War Manpower Commissioner Frank L. McNamee warned today that many stiff battles lie ahead of American doughboys before the war is won, and urged people on the home front to do a job equal to that being done by the boys over there.

Just returned from a tour of the battlefields of the Western front where he talked with Generals Eisenhower, Bradley and Patton McNamee declared:

"I don't want to be a sensationalist, but there's no one over there who thinks that this war is going to be finished soon or suddenly. Those who should know seem to feel that Germany will not collapse and it will be guerrilla warfare and a dog fight all the way to Berlin."

McNamee said Eisenhower and Patton both appealed for more men and more ammunition.

Dog Will Never Again Be Given Plane Priority

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(INS)—The command officer of the Air Transport Command officially announced today that never again would a dog be given an air flight priority that would force members of the armed forces from an Army plane.

This announcement came from Maj. Gen. Harold L. George, chief of the Transport Command, as a climax to a series of developments following the flight of Col. Elliott Roosevelt's Mastiff dog "Blaze" from the capital to the west coast. The dog, flying on the highest possible priority, "bumped" three war veterans from an Army cargo plane at Memphis, Tenn. The dog was being transported on a priority, but held that the "whole thing is a most regrettable combination of errors."

Gen. George, disclosing that an investigation had been made into the shipment of the dog, said: "An error in judgment has been made" and that he would take measures to correct procedures so that similar mistakes would not occur in the future.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(INS)—The date of Philippine independence may be advanced to November, 1945, instead of July 4, 1946, as a result of General MacArthur's Luzon campaign, the Foreign Policy Association revealed in a bulletin published Thursday.

The association pointed out that the inauguration of the Philippine republic at the earliest moment the military situation permits would have "profound effects on other Asiatic peoples who may still be subject to Japanese rule."

Protection For Airmen Being Much Increased

LONDON, Jan. 19.—(INS)—A conversion program to increase protection to American airmen and cut down the weight of American heavy bombers is announced by the U. S. Air Service Command.

Tons of heavy armor plating are now being taken out of Flying Fortress, Liberators, Marauders and Havocs, and lightweight "flak curtains"—overlapping squares of manganese steel resilient enough to halt a 20 millimeter shell exploding two feet away—substituted.

The flak curtains, which have been designed by Brigadier-General Malcolm C. Grow, chief surgeon of the United States strategic air forces in Europe and inventor of the flak suit, are installed in sheets and strips around the crew members.

Independence Date For Philippines May Be Moved Up

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(INS)—The date of Philippine independence may be advanced to November, 1945, instead of July 4, 1946, as a result of General MacArthur's Luzon campaign, the Foreign Policy Association revealed in a bulletin published Thursday.

The association pointed out that the inauguration of the Philippine republic at the earliest moment the military situation permits would have "profound effects on other Asiatic peoples who may still be subject to Japanese rule."

Will Participate In Ship Launching

Rev. Fr. V. V. Stancelowski, pastor of Sts. Philip and James church, left today for Portland, Maine, where on Saturday morning he will participate in the launching of the Liberty ship, "Father Francis Retka". The new ship is named after the late Rev. Fr. Francis Retka of Pittsburgh who was the head of the Holy Name Institute.

Funds for the new ship were made possible by the purchase of three million dollars worth of war loan bonds by Polish-Americans in western Pennsylvania.

The launching will take place at eleven o'clock Saturday morning, January 20. Rev. Stancelowski will deliver the dedication address.

Japanese Promise Lots Of New Weapons

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—(INS)—The Japanese radio at Batavia, in a broadcast heard by the PCG, warned "boastful Yankees" yesterday that a mystery ray, special anti-aircraft chemicals and other products of Nipponese "inventive genius" would be "effectively employed in future operations."

The broadcast quoted the Japanese newspaper Asahi as claiming that the Japanese had developed a mystery ray which could "blow up the entire city of Washington in an instant."

Chemicals which can be "spread in the air to guard against B-29s" through a reaction which "renders useless the engines of the enemy planes."

A radio device which can detect "accurately" the movements of American bombers and submarines. A huge plane, "three times as large as the B-29," capable of directing pilotless, explosive-laden planes and torpedo boats.

Senator Says He Was Rebuked For Asking Priority

Informed 'The White House Is Very Particular About Rules Governing Air Priorities'

By MARTHA KEARNEY

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Amidst the storm of indignation over the Col. Elliott Roosevelt "dog incident" Sen. Owen Brewster, (R) Maine, disclosed today he was severely lectured by an unidentified War department colonel upon applying for an air priority because "the White House is very particular about the rules governing priorities."

Brewster came forward with his story as feeling continued to run high both in and out of Congress over the "bumping" of three servicemen from an Army transport plane in deference to the "A" priority of Colonel Roosevelt's 135-pound Mastiff, a gift to Faye Emerson, his actress-bridge.

Scheduled to make a speech in New York City—approximately an hour and forty minutes from Washington by air—Brewster applied to the Army for a priority.

Lectured For 15 Minutes

An Army colonel insisted upon speaking to him personally. Brewster revealed, and proceeded to lecture him for 15 minutes on the importance of priorities, the strictness of the White House in respect to priorities and in general the fact that there is a war going on and plane space is valuable.

Brewster, who considers the Elliott Roosevelt incident "beneath comment," said he had thought fleetingly of calling the colonel and asking him about the dog's privileged, War department-endorsed status.

"I didn't quite dare raise the issue," he concluded. Brewster's Senate colleagues, however, did not hesitate in raising an issue about the dog incident.

Rep. Miller (D) California, asked the War department for an investigation of the circumstances surrounding the case.

"If the facts are correct as represented, this incident is deplorable and cannot, in my estimation, be justified," Miller declared in a letter to Secretary of War Stimson.

Both the War department and the White House termed the incident an error but Maj. Gen. Harold I. George, chief of the air transport command, promised that measures would be taken so a dog will never again be allowed to force members of the armed forces from any Army plane.

White House Secretary Stephen T. Early told reporters no priority was requested for the dog by the White House or Colonel Roosevelt, nor did the President know anything about it.

Nazis Suffered Great Losses In Past Week

Liquidation Of Ardennes Offensive Shows Yanks Smashed Nazis Hardest Blow

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Liquidation of the German offensive in the Ardennes gives the United States "the satisfaction of knowing that we have experienced the toughest blow which the enemy found himself able to administer," Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson declared today.

While the enemy has held desperately to the shoulders of his retreat routes, Stimson added, the lines of escape were so narrowed that the withdrawing Nazis suffered great losses in the past week.

At the same time he warmly praised the Russian offensive striking through Poland toward the German borders.

"All these Soviet offensives," he said, "reflect the constancy of the Russian effort, in cooperation with that of the United States, Great Britain and the other allies, to bring about the complete defeat of Germany."

Casualties Small on Luzon

On the Philippine offensive across Luzon, Stimson said, American casualties of all kinds have been limited to a few hundred.

Noting the slowness of the Japanese reaction to the Lingayen landing which has given General Douglas MacArthur time to land supplies and establish himself, Stimson added, "every day of Japanese delay must also deprive the enemy and more thoroughly cut him off from his homeland and from his bases in Formosa."

"When our warships, almost with impunity, can bring attack to Formosa, Canton, Swatow and Hongkong, the Japanese must know that their brief role of conqueror in the East Indies and southeast Asia is just about at an end."

He has been awarded seven stars for participation in seven major battles. He was recently transferred from the Fifth fleet to the Third fleet, commanded by Admiral Halsey.

Gunner Stitt has been in the service 20 months, and at the conclusion of his leave will return to his ship on the West Coast for the Pacific.

Military Trial For Two Nazi Saboteurs

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Secretary of War Stimson announced today that the two German saboteurs who landed on the Maine coast by submarine will be tried at Governor's Island, N. Y. by a military commission to be appointed by President Roosevelt.

The trial commission will determine whether the proceedings will be open to the public, he said, adding that the prisoners—Curtis Colepaugh and Eric Gimpel—are now being held by the FBI but will be transferred to the custody of the military commission which is to try them.

Pfc. Fruehstorfer Killed In Germany

In Service Three Years, Infantryman Had Been Wounded Near Cherbourg Last June

Pfc. George Fruehstorfer, who had been in service for over three years, was killed in action in Western Germany on November 20, according to a letter sent to his sister, Mrs. Mary Daugherty, 403 1/2 Bell avenue, from the chaplain of the infantry outfit with which Pfc. Fruehstorfer was serving.

Hit during an attack on the enemy, the infantryman died instantly and is now buried in a military cemetery in Belgium. He was still serving with the "Raider" regiment with which he had trained for overseas service. After taking part in the African and Sicilian campaigns, he trained in England for the invasion of Europe, and was wounded on June 25, near the port of Cherbourg.

Completely recovered, Pfc. Fruehstorfer returned to the regiment to serve in the drive into Western Germany in which he was killed. He has one older brother who has just been sent overseas.

Funeral Payments To Be Increased

Assemblyman James C. Brice said today that a bill has been introduced into the General Assembly which will raise funeral payments for ex-service men from $75 the present level to $125. The bill authorizes county commissioners to pay the increased amount in the case of the death of a former service man. Mr. Brice said the bill seemed to have a lot of backing and would probably pass without difficulty.

In course of preparation at the present time is a bill authorizing absentee voting in Pennsylvania which will be co-sponsored by Mr. Brice and Assemblyman Thomas C. Greer of Butler.

March Of Dimes Campaign Grows

Booth On Washington Street Is Opened For Receipt Of Contributions Here

TWELFTH ANNUAL DRIVE UNDER WAY

With contribution boxes placed in stores, banks, the post office and other strategic locations, and the bond booth on East Washington street fitted up for the receipt of contributions, the 12th annual fund-raising appeal of The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is well under way here. The campaign will continue through January 31.

This is a home-front battle in which every man, woman, and child in New Castle can participate, and it will not cost him very much either. If everyone gave just one dime, locally, and the same process occurred throughout the nation, a nice sum of money would be realized for this battle against infantile paralysis, that dread disease of childhood.

During last year's second worst epidemic of the disease, which struck many communities, The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis was able to muster doctors, nurses, physical therapists, respirators, wool and money, because of the unified support to this campaign which had been waged in previous years, and which resulted in funds being available for this purpose when needed.

Last year's epidemic, however, depleted the treasury, and Chairman Clarence M. England is calling upon the citizens of New Castle to rally to the support of the campaign locally. Your dimes are asked for but your dollars will not be refused, Mr. England said.

Victory Gardens Will Be Needed More Than Ever

HARRISBURG, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's victory gardens were seen today by Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst as the greatest hope of escaping serious shortages of certain vegetables during 1945.

In an address to Pennsylvania Victory Garden committees at the state capitol yesterday, Horst explained that while acreages of processing crops increased 7 per cent during 1944, no visible increase resulted in civilian canned supplies. Most truck crop acreages declined 5 per cent, he added.

"Victory gardens will be more important in 1945 than in any other war years," Horst said. "Pennsylvania farmers will depend largely upon the labor factor in final decisions. New farm machinery is getting tighter, with replacements harder to get. More food must be grown at home."

More Soldiers To Be Sent To Plants

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19.—(INS)—To speed production of war munitions, the Pittsburgh Army Ordnance district announced today that it has doubled the number of soldiers working in war plants, and that by February 1, approximately 1,336 men in uniform will be at work in district factories.

All skilled workmen who learned their trades before going into the Army, the men are veterans of the Mediterranean, European and Asiatic war theatres, and many wear citations in addition to their campaign ribbons.

They rank from buck private to top sergeants, and receive civilian pay, being allowed to stay where they like, while still under military discipline and regulations.

Under the present program, the troops are assigned for a 90-day period to various factories in the district, which embraces Western Pennsylvania, eastern Ohio, West Virginia and western Maryland.

Pfc. Donald Boots Tracks Down Japs, Wins Bronze Star

(Special To The News) SOMEWHERE IN THE PACIFIC (Delayed)—For hunting down and destroying numerous bands of fanatical Japs holed up in caves in the cliffs of Saipan, Marine Pfc. Donald A. Boots, 20-year-old Wampum man, has been awarded the Bronze Star.

Serving as a shore party man wasn't exciting enough so Boots volunteered for patrol duty. On these patrols, according to a citation signed by Lt. Gen. Holland M. Smith, Commanding General of the Fleet Marine Force in the Pacific, Boots "stalked and destroyed numerous enemy groups encountered."

Boots is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Boots, Wampum. Before joining the Marines in November, 1942, he attended Ellwood City High School, Ellwood City, Pa.

Charge Left Wing Greeks Failed To Battle Germans

LONDON, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Greek Left Wing elements gratefully accepted British and Allied equipment throughout the war but, instead of using the material against the Germans, bided their time and then attempted to utilize it to seize the government, Prime Minister Winston Churchill charged Thursday.

Delivering his promised statement on the Greek problem during the course of his war review to Commons, the veteran political leader again hotly defended his course in sending British Tommies into action against the Elsas by saying:

"I have never been connected with any large enterprise of policy about which I was more sure in mind and conscience of the rectitude of our motives, of the clarity of our principles and of the vigor, precision and success of our action, than what we have done in Greece."

War Gardening To Be Continued In Entire State

HARRISBURG, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's victory gardens last year and reports indicated "home front" gardening would continue as an essential post-war civilian activity, Dr. Warren Mack, head of the Pennsylvania State College horticulture department, said today.

Speaking at a meeting of the state defense council's victory garden committee, Mack praised the co-operation of commercial gardeners in aiding the home garden program.

Mrs. Stephen G. Van Hoesen, who directed the rehabilitation of injured soldiers through gardening at Camp Kilmer, N. J., described the therapeutic value of wounded servicemen working in the soil.

Conductors Protest Action By Company

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—(INS)—The Order of Railway Conductors of America today held the right to intervene in the government's anti-trust suit against the Pullman company to protect their jobs which might be affected by the case.

The organization, representing 2900 conductors employed by the company, was granted the right in U. S. district court in Philadelphia to intervene in the suit to protect seniority, retirement and other rights that may be threatened by the court order that the Pullman combination give up either the business of operating sleeping cars, or that of manufacturing them.

The court has not yet acted upon the company's decision to divest itself of operating sleeping cars and continue their manufacture.

The conductors expressed the fear, in a petition filed with the court for leave to intervene, that if the Pullman company is allowed to sell the sleeping car business, many of them who have been with the company for 20 years or more would be thrown out of work.

Here's GI Dream—118-Day Furlough

GREENVILLE, Pa., Jan. 19.—(INS)—Many a GI would doubtless exchange places with First Sgt. Charles A. Farmer, of Company A, Seventh Group, at Camp Reynolds, who is enjoying a 118-day furlough. The long respite from army routine is a "retirement furlough" and is being taken prior to his formal discharge, which will take place February 28, 1945, at the end of 30 years' service in the army.

S-Sgt. D. L. Jones To Get Discharge

(Special To The News)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Jan. 18.—Marine Staff Sergeant Durward L. Jones, who was injured by flying debris when a Marine dive bomber made a crash landing at Munda last February, is attached to the Naval hospital at Jacksonville, Florida, and will be honorably discharged from the Marine Corps this month.

The 19-year old aerial gunner who was attached to a Marine dive bombing squadron for 11 months overseas duty, has taken part in over twenty-five scouting missions over the Guadalcanal, Bougainville and Russell Island section.

Before entering service in March, 1942, S-Sgt. Jones attended New Castle High school. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Jones, 1105 West Washington street.

May Adjust Red Ration Allotments

Lard, Shortening And Salad And Cooking Oils On Frozen List
Till Monday

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(INS)—The possibility that OPA will adjust present red ration allotments in February was raised today as retail sales of lard, shortening and salad and cooking oils were "frozen" until Monday when these items will cost two red points per pound. The question was heightened by the fact that civilians received 50 red points per month when lard was removed from rationing March 3, 1944, and shortening and salad and cooking oils were dropped April 16 but are currently limited to 50 red points. It was pointed out that nationwide stocks of meats, fats and oils were relatively unchanged from supplies last spring when 85 per cent of all meats were taken from the ration list. With butter and margarine unaffected by the ration order, OPA Administrator Chester Bowles credited reduced lard supplies to a sharp decline in hog slaughter last September. Bowles said lard stocks are expected to continue short for several months.

Life Magazine Is Sued For $100,000

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Damages of $100,000 on a charge of libel were sought today from publishers of Life magazine in a suit filed in federal court in behalf of George Hartmann, chairman of the Peace Now organization. Hartmann is described in the suit as a professor of educational psychology at Teachers' College of Columbia University, New York, and at Harvard University. The suit alleged Life published a defamatory article and picture. Sail boats are measured by waterline length and sail area.

Plan To Continue Along Same Lines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—(INS)—The United States, Great Britain and Canada today announced jointly plans to continue the combined production and resources board, the combined raw materials board and the combined food board until the end of the Japanese war. The announcement was made in Washington by President Roosevelt in coordination with simultaneous releases in London and Ottawa.

70 MILLIONTH TON
CLAIRTON, Pa., Jan. 19.—(INS)—The Clairton Works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation today produced its 70 millionth ton of steel since Pearl Harbor. Company officials estimated this was enough steel to have built all the ships launched since the United States entered the war, with enough left over to have supplied the steel for every U. S. war plant constructed in this period.

Official reports on the battle performance on the 240-mm Howitzer state that prisoners of war fear this weapon more than any other produced by the U. S. Army Ordnance Department. One prisoner of war stated that the standing order in his organization was to cease firing and take cover immediately when a 240 began sending shells over. As soon as the firing ceased, the march order was given and enemy troops moved to a new position.

New Castle Not Playing Tonight

New Castle Will Go To New Brighton Saturday Night For Section Contest

ALIQUIPPA HIGH AT ELLWOOD CITY

New Castle's high school basketball team will be idle this evening, as the other teams in Section Three face grueling battles. New Castle will go to New Brighton Saturday night for its Section Three contest.

The game tonight was cancelled due to the fact that no competent officials for the game could be secured by New Brighton, due to a shortage of first-class basketball officials.

New Castle with one win in five league starts hopes to grab off its second win tomorrow night at the valley court. New Brighton has won three and lost two to date.

Aliquippa At Ellwood
Ellwood City High will be playing at home tonight, meeting the Aliquippa High Steelers. This is strictly a battle for last place with neither team having won a game yet in the loop and lost five straight. Ellwood City is "hot favorites" to cop, the victory tonight and climb out of the cellar berth. Coach Howard Gills will start his strongest lineup in order to "break the ice".

Other Section Three games on the night's card are: Beaver Falls at Farrell, where it will be a battle for first place between two undefeated quintets;—(the writer likes Farrell to win), and Sharon will be playing at Ambridge.

Costner Favored To Defeat Rangel

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—(INS)—George (Sugar) Costner of Cincinnati was the 4-to-1 favorite today to trounce Richard (Sheik) Rangel of Fresno, Cal., in their 10-round welterweight boxing bout at Chicago stadium tonight.

Winner of the match will meet Ray (Sugar) Robinson February 9 in the same ring.

Titans-Pitt To Clash Saturday

Coach Washabaugh Sees Westminster Facing One Of Season's Toughest Foes

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 19.—One of the district's bitterest basketball feuds will be renewed on Saturday night, January 20, when Dr. H. C. Carlson's Pitt Panthers and Coach Grover C. Washabaugh's Westminster Titans clash in a much-anticipated contest on the neutral Farrell High school floor.

It will be the case of the Panthers, with the district's lightest schedule of only 12 games, facing the Titans who have played some of the nation's topnotch quintets such as Oklahoma A. and M., Akron University, and Arkansas. Undeclared to date, Pitt holds victories over Allegheny, 63-30; Geneva, 49-45; Carnegie Tech 59-45, and Penn State, 58-41.

Face Tough Battle
In winning eight games out of ten starts this season, the Towering Titans have demonstrated a powerful offensive, scoring an average of 70.4 points a game to their opponents' 49. Westminster has defeated Carnegie Tech, Arkansas, Mexico, Bethany, Geneva, Juniata, and Slippery Rock twice, while losing only to Akron and Oklahoma A. and M.

Regarding the Pitt game Saturday, Coach Washabaugh declared that it will be one of Westminster's toughest battles this season.

Last year, the Blue and White handed the Carlsonsmen two beatings, 82-64 in the first meeting, and 58-54 in the second.

For his starting combination on Saturday night, Washabaugh will probably select Joe Cypher, Pittsburgh, and Christ Wagner, Connelville, at forwards; six-foot eight inch Noble Jorgensen, leading district scorer at center, and Don Bennett, East Liverpool, and Jack Watkins, Warren, O., at guard.

Game time will be at 8:15. Leo Carroll and Henry Dosey have been named to officiate.

Floor Calendar For This Evening

Aliquippa at Ellwood City
Sharon at Ambridge
New Castle at New Brighton (postponed till Saturday).

Donelli Accepted For Naval Service

Former Duquesne Coach And Cleveland Rams Mentor Inducted Into Navy

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Another of Pittsburgh's outstanding athletic figures has been taken by Uncle Sam.

This time, it was Aldo "Buff" Donelli, coach of the Cleveland Rams' professional football team, who passed his physical examination at the Pittsburgh induction center and was accepted by the navy.

The former Duquesne University grid mentor, who is nearing his 38th birthday and the father of two, was scheduled to depart for a training center Thursday. Donelli recently signed a three-year contract to coach the Rams at a reported salary of $15,000. He coached the Cleveland team last year and turned in such an excellent job with ordinary material that the three-year portfolio was his reward.

Maxwell Trophy For Glenn Davis

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Glenn W. Davis, ace West Point ball carrier, was presented with the Maxwell club award for the "outstanding college football player of 1944" at the club's annual dinner in Philadelphia last night.

Davis scored 20 touchdowns during Army's undefeated season.

Wampum High Take Notice

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Players on the game Little Chicago Latin school basketball team conceded today that maybe they slightly overmatched themselves when they took on Junior Military Academy of the private school league.

At the end of the game last night the military academy had rung up 105 points, or better than 4 points a minute for the 24 minutes of play.

The Latin school score? Zero.

Three Tilts In Loop 21 Tonight

New Wilmington At Bessemer In Feature Game On Night's Card

Three games will be played in Section 21 of the W.P.I.A.L. tonight. One game on the night's calendar in the county will be a non-league affair—Princeton at Union.

The preliminary to the Princeton-Union game at Union High tonight will start at 7 o'clock instead of 7:30 o'clock, the customary starting time. It was announced from the office of Principal Milton A. Pattison.

The feature game on the card this evening will take the New Wilmington Greyhounds to Bessemer to battle the Cement Turners. Bessemer with two loop wins and no defeats is tied with Wampum for first place in the league. Wampum has won three tilts and is undefeated, while Bessemer must win tonight to stay in the race.

At Jackson High will journey to Shenango for a tilt in the league and Coach Eddie Nahas is looking for a victory this evening. The other league game will find the Wampum Indians, league leaders at East Brook High floor for a battle.

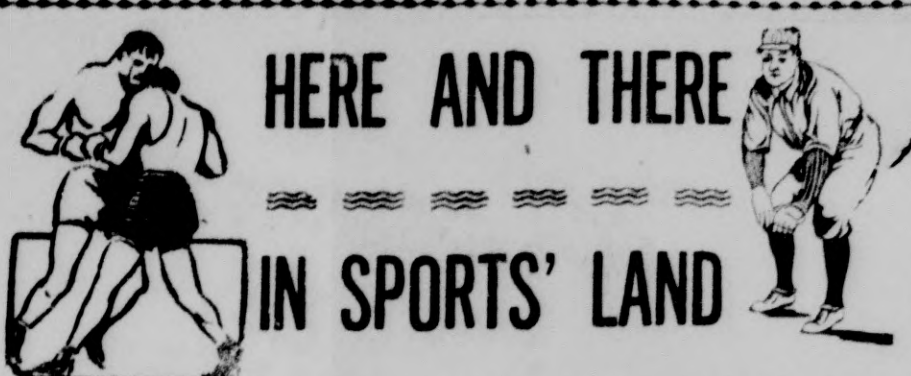

Buddy Young Is Bound For Navy

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Jan. 19.—(INS)—Claude (Buddy) Young, 18-year-old Illinois university track and grid star was headed for the Navy today.

Young, who is National A.A.U. National Collegiate, Central Collegiate and Western Conference sprint champion, will report for induction at Chicago Monday. He was named most valuable player by his 1944 Illinois football teammates.

HOUSE LEAGUE BATTLE

The Keystone defeated the Pirates 36 to 25 in a House league game at the "Y" last night. The win for the Keystone causes a tie with the Cardinals for first-place. The championship playoff will occur Monday night at 8:30 o'clock at the "Y".

HERE AND THERE
IN SPORTS' LAND

LEO HOUCK, veteran Penn State boxing coach, favors properly-supervised boxing programs in Pennsylvania high schools after the war. Pointing out that other sports already have a foothold in school-boy ranks, the one-time pro fighter said at Penn State, a well conceived program would add immeasurably to the physical development of growing boys. The veteran pointed to the sport's popularity in the armed services as proof of the wide appeal and expressed the conviction that boxing eventually "will be recognized as the All-American sport that it is." Houck, who entered coaching ranks 23 years ago after a professional career that embraced 200 bouts, said only competent and specially-trained men should be permitted to coach the sport.

In reference to the foregoing, the writer is glad to read that Houck favors only competent and specially trained men. He is a very sensible fellow. We always have liked boxing but upon some occasions we have become nauseated with some who set themselves up as tutors, managers and "seconds". In fact, we know of some fine young men who were ruined pugilistically by this ilk. There are not many in the U. S. capable of giving real boxing lessons, as we have seen some actual experts, give 'em. Some ex-fighters we know would not qualify. Some would fail if only because they would not possess the faculty of putting thoughts into words and it would be a crime were some lunk-head named as a boxing tutor because he stood well with a school directorate.

We know of men now teaching boxing in distant cities, whom, in our opinion, do not know what it is all about. Boxing is an art when learned properly. Of course, anyone is termed a boxer as soon as he puts on a pair of gloves and crawls through the ropes either as an amateur or a pro, but, that does not imply he knows how to box nor does it make the manager who got him the fight nor the second who yells "kill him!" a qualified handler.

American Bowling Congress reports that Beulah, Mich., a town of 379 persons, opened a $60,000, eight-alley establishment last November. Teams and leagues were organized in September. . . . ABC applications this year total 149,471 teams. . . . Most widely traveled league in the ABC is the Shipted and Johnson Ice Follies circuit. It bowls every Thursday throughout the skating season in the city where the troupe is playing.

Washington played 38 night games in '44. . . . The Nats won 22 and lost 22 in the home series. . . . Only 35 major league games were postponed last year, compared to an average of 68 for other years. . . . Biggest scoring game of the season was the 18-8 game won by Browns over A's. . . . Only three A. L. clubs do not have night games at home. . . . Freddie Trenkler, ice skating comedian, is a former star soccer player in Europe. . . . 15 of 57 games played in the American Soccer League thus far this season ended in ties. . . .

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER

International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Now that Eddie Egan is chairman of the New York State Boxing commission, it's a sure bet that his first real bout will be with old man trouble. It is difficult to think of a sport post of the calibre of Egan's which is so mired in difficulties and worrisome detail, unless it is the office of baseball commissioner, and even then the only baseball czar we ever have known was a man who, when it came to difficulties, liked to roll his own. Egan is well versed in law and he has had so many degrees conferred upon him at Harvard, Yale and Oxford that his career has taken on a sort of thermostatic quality, but he will need all his wits to outguess the inmates of the New York boxing zoo.

Fight Managers
Fight managers generally are suspicious and grasping by nature and in constant association with the less graceful elements of life, and some of them, to be sure, are larcenous to a remarkable degree. In this connection, managers will be trotted before Egan accused of stealing fighters from another manager or set of managers who, upon investigation, are discovered to have themselves attained possession of the human bullock through fraud. There have been contractual problems brought to light in boxing which would shatter Blackstone himself, and some of them have not been clearly traced and brought to a logical solution even to this day.

The case of Jenkins vs. an array of managers and Baer vs. a battalion of stockholders are magnificent examples of what is in store for Egan.

Before Jenkins left his native Texas for the rigors of the North the ex-cavalryman had difficulty in persuading even the most guileless souls that he was a fighter, much less a fighter of note. He came into New York unheard and apparently unknown. Since, in a 28-fight record, he had 14 victories and two draws and had been knocked out four times. Once he began to attain prominence in New York, however, it appeared that he had more managers than there are generals in the Bulgarian army. It never was straightened out to the satisfaction of everyone.

Baer's Case Unusual

Maxie Baer's case was unusual and even humorous, but is brought about the same kind of worry. The ex-heavyweight champion decided to parcel himself out like stock in an oil well and interested an unusual number of friends and businessmen in his venture. Maxie's mathematical ability was rather overrated, however, since a lawyer friend of his with a mind for ciphers sat down one day and figured that the big clown had sold 110 per cent of himself, a remarkable but rather unorthodox job of salesmanship.

Egan will also have to attack the problem of dual champions which has arisen through the inability of the New York Boxing commission and National Boxing association to do anything but point at each other. In this day of quantity over quality, it is fitting that we should have two featherweight titlists (Willie Pep, N. Y., and Sal Barotolo, NBA) and two 135-pound champions (Juan Zurita, NBA, and Bob Montgomery, N. Y.) but there's a "have new post-war world a'comin'" and the people are getting tired of that stuff.

Pax Vobiscum, brother Egan, and here's hoping you've already acquired a taste for aspirin tablets. You'll be seeing a lot of them from now on.

William Henry Harrison, ninth president of the United States, was the third son of Benjamin Harrison, a signer of the Declaration of Independence. He graduated from Hampden Sidney college and studied medicine.

Baseball Stars Tell Of Tour

Durocher, Medwick And
Etten Tell What G. I. Joe
Wanted To Know
Most

FOUND SOLDIERS
BASEBALL FANS

By PAT ROBINSON

(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Leo (Dodgers) Durocher, Joe (Giants) Medwick and Nick (Yankees) Etten, home from two months USO tour of Italy

... Where they entertained 70,000 soldiers and sailors ... sometimes staging shows with Nazi guns banging nearby ...

Question oftenest asked ... "Is it true there's a cigarette shortage in U. S.?" ... that amused the boys but the same boys want baseball and other sports continued ...

"We saw the Pope, too," said Medwick plaintively. "And would you believe it, he didn't ask us a thing about the Giants or the Dodgers?" ...

Million Questions

They also saw Lt. Charles Shea, red-headed hero ... who won Congressional Medal of Honor ...

Shea used to sell peanuts at the Polo Grounds. "And would you believe it," said Durocher. "That guy attended all our shows ... you'd think we were the heroes and not him." ...

Also saw Lt. Herman Besse ... Athletic pitcher ... wounded in hospital ... and Red-Cross worker Shirley Cobb ... daughter of Ty Cobb ...

They asked a million questions and handed out 2,400 autographed baseballs ... kids often had their own baseballs ... and some of them got players' monikers on $10 notes ...

Durocher handing out balls to men he could hardly see in darkness after one show when Etten whispered ... "Careful, Leo, I think Von Kesselring got that last one." ...

Two lads asked Durocher for a try-out after war ... they'll get it too ... and two ex-bookies from Brooklyn were terribly upset by ban on racing ... pointing out that they have trotting races in Rome even now ...

Mud and cold were terrific ... one Italian used to attend every show ... sleeping until he heard Durocher's best umpire bawling voice ... when he'd get up ... look at Leo reproachfully and go home ... they found he came there to get out of cold ...

Fuzzed By Series

World Series movies puzzled Britishers ... and Russians even more ... Englishmen walked out in disgust when they discovered World Series film ... was not a cowboy show ...

Kids deeply interested in stories about umpires ... especially Magerkurth ... but had no interest whatever in Babe Ruth ... who is only a name to these youngsters ...

Leo, Joe and Nick volunteered for several Navy shows ... "If we hadn't, we might have been there yet," said Leo. "But the Navy got us home." ...

Boys deeply interested in any word about home ... One lad asked Durocher if he knew a certain well-known undertaker in Brooklyn ... "Sure," replied Leo. "He's a red-hot Dodger fan." ...

Leo, Joe and Nick ... "That's great," said the youngster. "He's my uncle." ...

Army and Navy authorities ... Soldiers, sailors and ball players all enjoyed shows ... so it must have been worth while, said Durocher ...

both had new contracts today—with Uncle Sam.

Donelli was to go to Sampson, N. Y., as a navy draftee, while Musial was to be inducted in Pittsburgh.

Delaware was named for Thomas West, who, after he was ennobled, bore the title of Lord De la Warr. He never set foot on Delaware soil.

CAMPFIRE CORNER

By JACK WELCH

Mention ice to the next person with whom you happen to be talking and he'll probably visualize skating, diamonds, a highball or filling of a non-artificial refrigerator, depending upon the age and antecedents of your conversational victim. But if he happens to be the owner of a strip of recalcitrant lake shore or river prairie he is likely to see red and develop a violent spasm of jitters. Ice, you know, can play hob with your shore line or your beach cottage, and if you're thinking of acquiring either or both you'd better weigh the potentialities of crystallized H₂O in relation to your prospective purchase.

One day last summer I visited the shore of a large lake in company with a friend who was prospecting for a cabin site. He had heard of a strip of sand beach that could be obtained at a reasonable price. We located the site without any trouble, and the first outstanding feature that caught our eyes was a huge sandbank paralleling the shore and stretching into the distance on either side of us.

Ice Facts

"Good example of an ice-pack terrace," I commented. "Well, I don't want to buy a terrace," my companion rejoined. So another real estate deal went by the boards. On the shores of a number of other lakes I've seen similar terraces piled up by ice, wrecked cabins and litters of rocks and timber shoved far up on the shore by the irresistible winter giant. In truth ice is about as irresistible as anything on this earth can be.

S. A. Frelsen, a hydrologist and authority on ice action, points out that ice has nearly eight times as great a capacity for thermal expansion as steel, and that expansion of a sheet of ice 150 feet in width has been known to move a masonry bridge pier weighing 1,000 tons two inches out of plumb. In another instance he says, masonry piers on pile foundations have been pushed from two to 12 inches out of line.

"An appreciable drop of temperature causes lake ice to contract," he explains, "producing cracks which refill with more ice. When a subsequent rise in temperature produces an expansion of the whole ice mass a tremendous force is exerted against the shore."

"Because of the expanse it is impracticable for the average individual to construct retaining walls strong enough to resist ice pressure, but if such a wall is built it should have a sloping face on the lake ice, flat enough to permit the advancing ice to override it."

Hockey Fan Learns,
But The Hard Way

DETROIT, Jan. 19.—(INS)—A hockey fan with gambling instincts today realized he learned the hard way on what he thought was a "sure thing" bet.

Rushing into the Olympia lobby at 8:20 last night, he grabbed a friend's arm.

"Bet you five on any proposition you want to make," he said. The friend grinned.

"Sure thing. I'll bet you there isn't a goal scored before nine o'clock."

"That's a bet," cried the late-comer. He paid off at nine o'clock because the Rangers showed up two and a half hours late for their game with the Red Wings.

Games Tonight
In 'Y' League

Three more games will be played in the "Y" Indus-Church league tonight. The first game at 7:30 o'clock will find the First Presbyterians battling the First Baptists.

In the second game the Croton Methodists tangle with the St. George Greeks.

In the final game the Third U. P. and Epworth Methodists battle.

REDS' ADVANCE IS NOW WITHIN 250 MILES OF BERLIN

lin was maintained by three powerful mechanized Soviet armies pressing against East Prussia and to the border regions of industrial Silesia. Advanced Red army elements were little more than 250 miles from the Reich capital.

The closest advance to Berlin was scored in the push by the First Ukrainian army west from the Czechoslovak region toward Breslau, inside Silesia.

Berlin accounts said spearheads advancing from Czechoslovakia already were battling on German soil while the DNB agency reported Soviet bombers raided Breslau yesterday.

Speed Mounting

While the speed of Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky's offensive in the Narew river sector in the north mounted steadily, troops commanded by Marshal Gregory Zhukov were reported to have smashed ahead to points more than 60 miles west of Warsaw.

Reports reaching Moscow from the battlefield said that forward columns of tanks, self-propelled artillery and infantry were surging forward unchecked, giving the Germans no time to put up a defense. Rokossovsky's advance was reported progressing at the rate of 15 to 18 miles a day.

The Soviet high command failed to substantiate late Berlin reports that Red army spearheads already were at the Silesian frontier. Official quarters did reveal, however, that some of Marshal Ivan Konev's First Ukrainian army forces were in the town of Szarleja, only 11 miles from Silesia. Soviet forces moving ahead unchecked may therefore already have reached the border region or scored a penetration into the Reich.

Drive Into Lodz

Marshal Gregory Zhukov's First White Russian army, surging westward below liberated Warsaw, smashed into Lodz after an advance of 30 miles in only 24 hours.

Above the shattered capital troops of the Second White Russian army under command of Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky heading for the southern regions of East Prussia battled forward on a 40-mile front to reach the east bank of the river Vistula river. One column moved into the town of Modlin.

Poland's second city, Lodz, was brought into the battle zone. It was reported that the First Ukrainian army and troops of the Second White Russian army were pushing forward to carry out a pincer drive on the Nazi-held base.

The wide sweeps of the three armies presenting the greatest threat yet to the Nazi homeland by Marshal Joseph Stalin's invading armies liberated approximately 2,000 more towns and villages all across the blazing front.

Close In On Krakow

The high command reported that troops closing in on the ancient capital of Krakow were only three miles from the city.

The jerocity with which the Germans have begun to hit back was indicated by the Soviet high command announcement that on one sector of the Second Ukrainian army front northwest of Warsaw the Russians repulsed 20 German counterattacks.

Marshal Stalin issued three separate orders of the day marking the latest Soviet victories as reports reaching the Soviet capital told of panic which gripped the German forces who were unable to stem the Russian Red army troops.

Overrun by the forces of Marshal Rokossovsky's.

Along with Lodz, Zhukov's troops seized Czarniewice and Skolabinek, 30 miles west of Berlin, saw along the main road to Berlin.

Important protracted battle for while in the Soviet siege forces now have control of 5,000 blocks in the Hungarian capital.

Some 20,000 enemy troops were taken prisoner yesterday, bringing to 59,200 the total captured by the Soviets in the battle for the city.

NAZIS FIGHTING LOSING STRUGGLE AGAINST SOVIET

Soviet advance units have reached Silesia and are fighting on Nazi soil close to the point where Hitler started the war by his aggression against Poland in 1939.

With Germans admitting presence of Soviet troops in Lodz and making no attempt to predict they will be driven out there seemed no chance whatever for a repetition of Field Marshal Eric Ludendorff's "miracle" of 1914.

The Grand Duke Nicholas, commander-in-chief of Imperial Russian forces at the outbreak of the first world war, capitalized on a German retreat made necessary by reverses at Ypres and elsewhere on the western front and chose Lodz as his main objective.

But Ludendorff denounced the East Prussian frontiers of their defenders and dispersed his own remaining strength in a manner that enabled him to reorganize his forces with lightning speed and fall upon the czarist troops at Lodz.

The result of this gamble was a decisive defeat for the Russians. Directly opposite conditions appeared to prevail on the eastern Reich today to summon any reserve strength to combat the Soviet drive and the street fighting at Lodz was more in the nature of rear-guard action than anything else.

With more than 2,500,000 Soviet troops already committed to action on six different fronts to the east of the German frontier, Premier Joseph Stalin was able to announce opening of still another drive along a 37-mile sector in the Sank area of the Carpathians north of the Slovak border.

Gains ranging up to 50 miles already have been made by troops of the fourth Ukrainian front in this area, Stalin said.

CHESTER, Pa.—(INS)—Local police were stirred into action by an "ad" of a Silverdale, Del. florist. She said a small truck and driver had been lost for nine hours and asked police to find the errand trucker who "probably was sleeping somewhere."

CARS DRIFT AWAY

PITTSBURGH — (INS) — The Pittsburgh district's recent blizzard, when 15 inches of snow fell, didn't discourage automobile thieves, according to police, who reported that culprits managed to steal three cars and go through the drifts with them while all other traffic was practically at a standstill.

AMERICAN TRAGEDY

ABERDEEN, Wash.—(INS)—An Aberdeen matron has just about given up the idea of figure control.

About a year ago, a thief entered her home and stole her newly-purchased girdle. Then with foundation garments as scarce as cigars, someone stole her other two girdles the other night.

Congress Takes Up Proposal To Draft Nurses

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Congress paused briefly today in its cautious preparation of a labor draft bill for men and took up for urgent consideration the army's companion measure to draft nurses for war duty.

Surgeon-General Norman T. Kirk was called before the house military affairs committee to back up President Roosevelt's emergency proposal to induct nurses from 18 to 45 who fail to volunteer for army service.

This afternoon, the committee will swing back into consideration of amendments to the 18-to-45 "work or fight" bill sponsored by its chairman, Rep. Andrew J. May (D. Ky.), and endorsed by Mr. Roosevelt.

One of those expected to generate a bitter fight when the bill reaches the house, probably next week, is a provision offered by Rep. Stewart (R. Okla.), to protect workers assigned to war plants against compulsory membership in a labor union. Members regarded this as the most ticklish issue to be ironed out in framing a "modified" manpower bill.

Wastage of Labor

A division in sentiment perhaps even stronger than in the house was indicated in the senate where a subcommittee of the Mead war investigating committee returned from a manpower hearing at Norfolk, Va., with Sen. Ferguson, Mich., reporting that he was "really shocked" by what he saw in the wastage of labor in shipyards of that naval base. Ferguson promised to give details in a senate speech Monday.

The house group took time out to give priority to the war department nurses bill after hearing War Food Administrator Marvin Jones and a spokesman for the American Farm Bureau Federation endorse the May bill with "certain amendments." These would preserve the application of the Tydings amendments covering farm workers and substitute civil penalties for the threat of army induction—both acceptable to a majority of the committee.

But uncertainty still appeared to rule the committee on some other major aspects of the administration demand that compulsion be substituted for the present voluntary manpower system.

In the first vote on any amendment, the group rejected, 14 to 8, a move by Rep. Andrews (R. N. Y.), to substitute a sharply-pruned national service bill for May's measure. Andrews' substitute was the Austin-Wadsworth national service bill, which in full form covers men to 65 and women to age 50—made applicable only to men from 18 to 45.

More detailed in form than the chairman's plan, it also carried a ban against compulsory union membership and guarantees of re-employment for men assigned to war plants from other less essential jobs.

Some congressional observers believed the vote on Andrews' amendment, while not an accurate "test" represented about how the committee will split on approving May's bill.

Strip-Tease Dancer Is Cross-Examined

Questioned On Her Testimony She Was 'Terrified' Of Her American Soldier Companion

By JOSEPH THOMAS
(U. S. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Counsel for U. S. Army Pvt. Karl Gustav Hulten, 22, Boston, Mass., accused of killing a London cab driver, today cross-examined Hulten's co-defendant, Mrs. Elizabeth Jones, 18-year-old strip-tease dancer, on her testimony that she was "terrified" of Hulten because he told her he had been a Chicago gunman.

According to statements which police said were made by Mrs. Jones, introduced as evidence yesterday, Mrs. Jones said she and Hulten—whom she said she knew as "Rickey"—stopped a London cab on the night of October 7 with the intention of robbing the driver, to satisfy a desire to "do something dangerous." Her statement said that "Rickey" shot the driver in the back with an automatic pistol.

The body of the driver, George "Cleft Chin" Heath, was found in a ditch in the outskirts of London.

Cross-Examination

On cross-examination by John C. Maude, Hulten's counsel, Mrs. Jones said today that Hulten had terrified her with talk of being a former Chicago gunman and the leader of a London "gang."

But, she added, the day following Heath's death, she and Hulten attended a movie in Hammersmith.

"Hulten sat with his arm through mine," she said.

"And yet," Maude commented, "this is the man of whom you told you were terrified."

"He reminded me before we went in that he had a gun," she answered.

She testified that Hulten had spent the night at her flat, but she denied they had been intimate.

Both Mrs. Jones and Hulten have entered pleas of not guilty to charges of murdering Heath.

Man Wounded After Robbery, Convicted

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 19.—Bernard Caniff, 38, of 204 Lincoln avenue, who was shot and wounded by police in December after robbing a cafe, was found guilty of burglary and larceny by a jury in Common Pleas Judge David G. Jenkins' court. The jury deliberated only 15 minutes. Sentence will be passed later.

Caniff was shot by Patrolman Charles Young who found him and two companions attempting to open a safe which had been stolen from the Buckeye Cafe, 811 South avenue. Caniff spent several weeks in the hospital.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—(INS)—Col. Elliot Roosevelt, who has returned to duty in the European theater of war, was "very distressed and puzzled" over the furor surrounding his high-priority air-traveling dog, friends said today.

The circumstances of the dog's departure from England were "very correct," friends said, despite what ever happened in the United States. They said the colonel obtained official approval and papers necessary to take the 130-pound honey-colored "Blaze" and a small female puppy when he left for the United States late in November to get married.
